HOPE OF EARLY MEXICAN PARLEY MISTY

NO ARBITRATION PROPOSAL SUBMITTED TO SEC. KELLOGG

And No Moves Have Been Made By the President of the Southern Republic—Calles Sitting Tight—New Mexican Law of Alien Ownership Goes Into Effect Friday—As Soon As Peace Is Restored In Nicaragua United States Troops Will Be Withdrawn.

Altho Secretary Kellogg had announced that he has been giving consideration to the application of the principle of arbitration to the Mexican controversy, it was made clear Wednesday at the state department that no move in that direction had been initiated by the Washington government.

And there was no indication that any official offer or arbitration has been received from President Calles of Mexico, who, in the opinion of some officials at least would be expected to express a willingness to approach the oil land question from that angle, if it is to be undertaken.

At the state department, Secretary Kellogg's attitude toward arbitration, which was proposed in a resolution Wednesday toward Robinson, the Democratic leader, was said to be one of complete willingness to have the advice of the senate on the subject, but without commitment as to whether he would accept an offer of arbitration if made by the Mexican president.

State department reticence as to what significance should be attached to Secretary Kellogg's statement on the Robinson resolution probably arises from the numerous difficulties foreseen in the way of a mutual agreement between the two governments on the exact language which could be employed in submitting the question to an arbitrator.

With regard to Nicaragua, it was said to be Secretary Kellogg's opinion that with re-establishment of peace in that country, the American forces would be withdrawn. The United States, it was said, has been trying for several years to help Nicaragua compose her internal affairs and would be glad to see an era of tranquility there.

The only reference to the Mexican and Nicaraguan situations in congress today was made in the house by Representative Burton, of Ohio, Republican, on the foreign affairs committee, who said, "an unnecessary amount of agitation" had been raised, and that there was "an absolutely groundless fear of war."

Altho official comment was held the Mexican government was held in abeyance early Wednesday, all circles in the capital eagerly discussed reports from Washington that Secretary of State Kellogg has indicated that he is in favor of arbitrating the differences between Mexico and the United States.

The foreign office pointed out that it has had no official communication in dicating Secretary Kellogg's willingness for arbitration of the question. The feeling in official circles is that it is difficult for the Mexican government to commit itself on the matter until it has definite suggestions, including details of which precise points would be arbitrated and how.

The Mexican law which provides that no "alien shall acquire direct ownership" within 50 kilometers of the Mexican coast and 100 kilometers of the border, will go into effect Friday, it was learned today at the Mexican land laws which became effective January 1.

The law stipulates that a foreigner participating in a Mexican company acquiring ownership within the restricted zones must not invoke the protection of the government.

WORKMAN WAS DROWNED IN WALNUT CREEK

William Truex Lost His Life Trying to Save Woodwork at New Bridge.

William Truex, 21, employed by a construction company, building a bridge over Little Walnut creek at Ashville for the Chesapeake & Hocking Railroad company lost his life by drowning Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock.

Mr. Truex was at work with a long spike pole, pushing away the ice trying to save the trestle woodwork of the new bridge. He was standing on the false construction when it is thought that he spiked a large cake of ice, which he was unable to handle, lost his balance and fell in. Other employees of the company saw him fall into the swirling waters, but were unable to render him aid. His body went down in the creek, which was a raging torrent and at last reports from Ashville, the body had not been recovered.

The deceased was a student at the Walnut township centralized school, graduating therefrom two years ago and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Truex, who occupy the Ot Peters farm in Madison township, near St. Paul.

The deceased was a nephew of William Truex, of Hayward street, this city.

SCHOOL BOY KIDNAPED BY HIS MOTHER

Walter Bell, of Near London, Being Sought by City and County Officers.

The entire community around London and between Columbus and Springfield was being searched Wednesday night for Walter Bell Jr., 10 year old London school boy, who is alleged to have been kidnaped late Tuesday night by his mother.

He was heard from Wednesday morning when his uncle, Grant Hutchinson, engineer at Springfield, called his wife in London, saying he had found the lad and started him home on a bus.

The youth got off near London and again disappeared. The father, Walter Bell, formerly of London, works in Springfield, while the mother lives in Columbus. They were divorced a month ago.

The lad told his uncle that his mother took him from London and then left him in Springfield after becoming afraid of the boy's cries, which attracted attention.

The mother could not be located in Columbus. The youth is being sought by city and county officials, and a check of the report of the affair is also being conducted by officers.

DAN MOODY ASSUMES REINS LEFT BY "MA"

Bitterness of Political Strife Buried When Youthful Lawyer Is Inaugurated.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 18.—Animosities and bitterness of political strife were buried for the moment today when Dan Moody, youthful standard bearer of Texas Democracy, was inaugurated governor, succeeding Miriam A. Ferguson, the state's first woman executive.

The 33-year-old Moody took up the governorship from the hands of Mrs. Ferguson, a grandmother, before a vast crowd, said to have been the largest gathering in Texas history.

The new governor and the retiring executive occupied places side by side in the center of a platform built under the arch of the south entrance to the capitol and carried out their parts without exhibiting any of the bitterness engendered in their political battles.

There had been many rumors that Mrs. Ferguson might resign shortly before her term expired and not attend the inaugural ceremonies.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, husband of Mrs. Ferguson, sat on one side of the platform and Mrs. Moody, the 29-year-old "first lady" of the state, occupied a seat in front of the stand. Five former governors were present.

CHILDREN GO TO SCHOOL ON SCHOOL SKIS

Ski-running is becoming popular with school children of the mountain districts of Bohemia, and the teachers are encouraging them in it. Some of the schools have accumulated stocks of from 30 to 50 pairs of skis, and the children have been taught to use them. Frequent contests of speed and of dexterity are held. Not only do the skis give valuable physical exercise but they contribute directly to the good of the schools. Formerly the children were often obliged to stay at home on snowy days; now they take great pleasure in skiing to school.—Emanuel V. Lippert in School Life.

Lesson for January 23

PRAYER IN CHRISTIAN LIFE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:35; 14:32-42; Matt. 6:9-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Ask and ye shall find; knock and it shall be opened unto you.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Talking to God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Teaches Us How to Pray.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Learning From Jesus How to Pray.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What Jesus Taught by Prayer.

I. Jesus Praying in a Solitary Place (Mark 1:35).

After a series of most strenuous efforts Jesus retired to a lonely place to pray. He who the day before had shown His mighty power in casting out devils and banishing disease now needed to be alone with God. In order to do this He arose a long time before daylight. The very best time to pray is in the morning when our physical powers have been renewed. If the Son of God needed this time for prayer, this renewal of spiritual strength in communion with the Heavenly Father, how much more should we seek help by retiring to the solitary place.

II. Jesus Praying in Gethsemane (Mark 14:32-42)

In this time of crisis He took with him Peter, James and John.

1. The first prayer (vv. 35-38).

(1) His posture (v. 35).

He fell on his face prostrate on the ground. In the hour of great need we naturally prostrate ourselves before God.

(2) His petition (v. 36).

"Take away this cup from me." By the cup is meant His death on the cross. No doubt it was most grievous for Him to face this shame, but He pressed on, knowing that for this cause He had come into the world (John 12:27, 28; cf. Heb. 2:14).

(3) His resignation (v. 38).

His will was in subjection to the Father. He knew that His death on the cross was the will of God, the Father, for He was the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world.

(4) The disciples rebuked (v. 37).

He singled out Peter since he had been the most conspicuous in proclaiming his loyalty (John 13:38).

(5) Extortion to the disciples (v. 38).

"Watch and pray lest ye enter into temptation." The only way to be able to stand in the time of trial is to be watching and praying.

2. The second prayer (vv. 39, 40).

He withdrew the second time from the disciples and uttered the same words in prayer. This was not vain repetition. It is proper to repeat our requests. He found the disciples asleep again. Their shame and confusion were more marked than at first.

3. The third prayer (vv. 41, 42)

He uttered the same words in the third prayer (Matt. 26:44).

He tells the disciples to sleep on and take their rest as the hour had now come for His betrayal. There is such a thing as being asleep when wanted and awakening when it is too late. If the disciples had been praying they would not have fallen asleep.

III. Jesus Giving a Model Prayer (Matt. 6:9-13).

This model was given in response to the disciples' request that the Lord would teach them how to pray (Luke 11:40). It is not therefore the Lord's prayer, but the model prayer for the disciples. It involves:

1. A right relationship (v. 9).

"Our Father." Only those who become children of God by faith in Jesus Christ (Gal. 3:26) can pray aright. One must be a child of God before he can be in communion with God.

2. A right attitude (vv. 9, 10).

"Hallowed be Thy name." When one realizes that he has been delivered from the power of darkness and translated into the kingdom of His Son (Col. 1:13) by being made a child of God, he cannot help pouring out his soul in gratitude and praise, intensely longing for the kingdom, the righteous rule of Christ to come on the earth.

3. A right spirit (vv. 11-13).

(1) That of trust which looks to God for the supply of daily bread. We are dependent upon Him for our daily food. With all man's boasted progress he cannot make a harvest. The marvels of modern chemistry are insufficient for this.

(2) That of love which results in forgiveness of others. God will not listen to the prayer of one who has an unforgiving spirit.

(3) That of holiness which moves one to pray not to be led into temptation and longs to be delivered from the evil one.

CLERK MARRIED 85,000 COUPLES

Berlin-Mackay and Salm-Rogers Among Weddings Performed by Official.

New York.—J. J. McCormick, deputy city clerk, who has in the opinion of confirmed optimists conferred more happiness on humanity than any other man in the world, celebrated his fifty-seventh birthday by following his accustomed pursuit of uniting couples in matrimony in the city marriage chapel. Mr. McCormick has married more than 85,000 couples during the five and a half years in which he has presided over the marriage chapel.

When asked whether he regarded his record creditable or otherwise he replied firmly:

"I am not ashamed of anything I have ever done."

Mr. McCormick professed to an absolute lack of bias on the subject of brides.

All Brides Look Alike.

"All brides look alike to me," he said. "I have seen so many of them that I no longer regard them with any attention. They all look like a mass of feathers."

Despite this apparent lack of romantic feeling, however, he sturdily defended his belief that most marriages are brought about by true love.

"I see little difference in the couples that come before me," he said. "Whether they are rich or poor, young or old, black or white, they seem to be really anxious to get married, and that's all there is about it. I don't believe the young ones have any more chance of being happy than the older couples."

Mr. McCormick begins marrying people every morning promptly at ten o'clock and continues his particular kind of labor of love until four in the afternoon, taking only a brief time for luncheon. If he were a "two-hour for luncheon" man, it is estimated that 5,508 couples would have been prevented from marrying during the last five and a half years.

He has reduced marrying to a fine art and is regarded as the most efficient marrier in the world. He can unite any couple in just a minute and a half. On his high record day he married 112 couples. The flood tide of matrimony comes in June, he has found, and Saturday morning is the big time of any week.

The most talked-of marriage which Mr. McCormick could recall having performed was that of Irving Berlin and Miss Ellen Mackay.

"I did not know who they were," he said. "I did not know anything about it. I was just going out to lunch when one of the other fellows in the office said: 'There's a couple'd like to be married right off. Could you do it before you go out?' 'Sure,' I said, and in they came. Afterward I found out it was quite an occasion."

Count Ludwig Salm Hoogstraeten and Miss Millicent Rogers also availed themselves of Mr. McCormick's kind offices when they contracted marriage, the difficulties of which have since been press agented around the world. The list of other notables at whose marriage he has officiated was too long for him to give.

Contrast in Weddings.

Sometimes the would-be bride and bridegroom and their attendants are beautifully dressed, carrying bouquets of orchids or lilies of the valley as large as their smiles. And sometimes they are so poor that the $4 needed for the license and marriage fees seems a fortune.

In fact, there are occasions, said Mr. McCormick, when a couple who don't suspect that $4 is the cost of matrimony of the municipal brand, are faced with the calamitous discovery that they haven't enough funds between them to carry on.

This happened with one wedding party whose exchequer supplied the $2 required for the license, but fell 50 cents short on the marriage fee. The aggregate fortune of bride, bridegroom, and two attendants was $3.50.

Nothing dismayed, the bridegroom asked that the ceremony be postponed a few minutes while he sought his banker outside the municipal building. His bride and the best man and bridesmaid waited in the anteroom while Mr. McCormick proceeded with the wedding of more richly dowered couples.

Presently the bridegroom returned triumphant.

"I've got it," he announced, presenting the missing half dollar. "I hocked the wedding ring."

PUPILS' HONESTY IS PUT TO TEST

Rich Children More Prone to Steal Than Poor.

New York.—Studies of honesty among school children in cities and towns of the East indicate that children of wealth are most prone to steal money, that girls more often cheat in the class room and boys in games, and that honesty is in direct proportion to intelligence.

The tests are being made by psychologists engaged in a "character education inquiry" at the Columbia university.

A majority of the pupils were reported as lying, when asked questions to which they felt an affirmative answer should be given. For instance, to "do you read the Bible every day?" Ninety per cent said they did, according to Dr. Mark A. May, one of the psychologists.

Doctor May is on a three-year leave of absence from the Syracuse university faculty.

Ingenious tests were devised to measure such abstract quantities as stealing, lying and cheating tendencies. Children were asked to solve a puzzle which involved the use of 69 cents in various coins. The object was to see how many would take the money.

Among the 250 Jewish orphans of New York's East side only ten dimes disappeared. When the same test was given to children of the rich in an exclusive school it was found 18 per cent took money, while in one case the coins disappeared, box and all, and in another a pupil hid a 25-cent piece, claimed an error and asked for a second, which also disappeared.

Clyde Holds Distinction

The River Clyde, in Scotland, is the greatest shipbuilding river in the world and special facilities have been made for fitting out the largest and finest merchant and war vessels. About half of the quayside has come into existence during the last 30 years. The shipbuilding area has been greatly expanded in recent years, in spite of the many shipbuilding centers that sprang up as a result of the war.

Queer Industry

In Japan a company is engaged in exploiting the use of volcanic ash in combination with Portland cement mortar. This combination is said to be particularly valuable in the construction of works submerged in salt water. It is claimed that the cement thus formed possesses great tensile strength and is denser than ordinary Portland cement. It is also more resistant to the percolation of water. Attention is called to the fact that, if this industry expands, the Philippines contain a great deal of volcanic ash which might be available.

Girl Spurns CinderellaRole to Remain ServantPhoenix, Ariz.—Jackie Henley, nineteen-year-old Denver girl, would rather continue as a servant than play a Cinderella role as the adopted daughter of J. M. Freeman, wealthy retired stock broker of Phoenix.When Freeman was told that newspaper stories of his proposal to adopt the girl had caused probation officers to criticize Judge Ben Lindsey of the Denver juvenile court for making the case public, he said he had abandoned his plan because of protests from her mother."I answered the girl's advertisement in a Denver newspaper," said Freeman, "and she came to Colorado Springs to see me, accompanied by her married sister. I explained that I needed a companion who wanted and needed a good home, and who would be willing to take care of me in my illness."Judge Lindsey after talking to the girl, found that she preferred "a life as a domestic in Denver rather than be the pampered adopted daughter of an aged wealthy man."

REAL MENACEIt Will Pay Farmers to Hear Talk by One Who Has Made It a Real Study.C. R. Neiswander, an authority on the European Corn Borer and a man who has been in the thickest of the fight in the counties and states bordering on Canada and the Great Lakes, will be one of the speakers at the Farmers' institute to be held in Circleville on the last Friday and Saturday in January.We, in Pickaway county, think of the corn borer as some one else's troubles, but there is every indication that it will be our trouble as well in the very near future. If Pickaway county is to continue to raise corn, we are obliged to consider the corn borer as one of the enemy, we have to fight.
The corn borer fight will have to be carried on right here at home and Mr.
Neiswander representing the department of entomology of the Ohio experiment station at Oak Harbor comes to us with experience and advice. He knows that no enemy of the corn borer has been found and no means have been devised to destroy it. The only progress that has been made has been in the matter of control after the presence of the borer has been established. Special methods of cleaner tillage which he will outline have proven effective, provided the whole community practices them and this means does not restore the corn productively about a certain point too low to make a profit.Pickaway county is by no means outside of the danger area and no more sickening sight can be imagined than to bring a large corn crop almost to maturity and wake up some morning after a slight breeze and find the entire crop blown down after having been weakened by the borer when this pest was not known to be in the vicinity of the field affected.
It will pay Pickaway county corn growing farmers to hear this talk and the discussion of this subject and to start building their defense for the battle they are bound to have to fight with this foreign invader.SPIRITUAL APPEAL IN OLD CHURCHESTwo years ago the national assembly of the Church of England took up the case of the 19 old churches in the center of London and voted in favor of demolishing them and selling the sites. It was argued that the resident population had migrated, leaving the churches virtually without congregations, and that they were needlessly occupying valuable sites. The house of lords indorsed the decision of several months ago. But on November 25, the house of commons voted down, 124 to 27, a motion in favor of demolishing the structures.It is not likely that the action of the house of commons in sparing these old edifices will receive much commendation in this country. "Down with the old, up with the new," is the slogan over here. Bigger and better churches must be had. And yet, old churches have a usage all their own. There is something to be got out of merely going into an ancient church, which is not to be had on going into some of the modern ones, no matter how large they may be or how profusely they may be decorated. One gets more the sense of show, of money expenditures, etc., than of spiritual.— hall in Circleville on January 28-29.Mr. Ackerman is a banker well schooled on the farm financial problems and will be able to discuss from experience the problems our farmers are obliged to face.We are too prone to think of the banker as one who sits in his office and sees things only as they affect his loans and interest but the very fact that there is an Ohio Bankers' association is due to the fact that they recognize that it is a part of the function of a bank in a community to promote better understanding of the community problems in order that the community served by that bank may rise above its present standard and be a better place for everyone in the community to live up to a higher standard, so that financial risk is reduced in every business dealing as well as the dealings between the people of the community and the banks of the community.We must have banks, must have customers and a better understanding of mutual problems is good for any community and the Farmers' institute is being planned to bring the most benefit to Pickaway county people.DUSTY MILLER

SHIPMENTS OF LIVESTOCK THIS COUNTY

Amounted to $63,955.49 in December According to Service Manager Briggs.

Cooperative livestock shipments in Pickaway county last month amounted to $63,955.49 according to figures compiled by Harry J. Briggs, livestock shipping manager.

The net market value of cooperative livestock shipments in Ohio for 1926 amounted to $14,527,728.17 or more than a million dollar's worth of business than last year, according to records received by the Ohio Farm Bureau federation.

The number of shipments of straight floors increased 16 per cent. This is accounted for in part by the increased number of shipments going thru cooperative channels directly to the packers and by the shipment of hogs in large numbers during a short period due to cholera.

The number of hogs and calves shipped cooperatively fell off about 8 and 10 per cent respectively, whereas sheep and cattle shipments have increased 11 and 27 per cent respectively.

A notable increase in the efficiency of the service, according to F. G. Ketter, of the livestock marketing department of the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, is shown by the decreased cost of handling stock. In 1925 the average expense of marketing, not including shrink, was 60½ cents, whereas last year it dropped to 56½ cents.

"My dear," said his wife, "what is your text for this morning's sermon?"

"The fourteenth verse, of the fifth Psalm," he replied, in short gasps.

"The w-words of his mouth were (tug) s-smoother than butter, but there was (tug) w-war in his heart."

HARTMAN THEATER.

"The Poor Nut, heralded as the greatest of all college comedies, will be the attraction at the Hartman theater, Columbus, on next Monday, January 17, for an engagement of a week only. The comedy comes direct from 20 weeks at the Cort theater in Chicago. It enjoyed sensational success in New York for 42 weeks, in Boston for 10 weeks and in Philadelphia for eight weeks.

Patterson McNutt, the young producer, has mounted the play handsomely, and the famous stadium scene which stumped other Broadway managers, is staged so realistically that it has been the talk of critics and playgoers alike wherever the comedy has been presented.

Elliott Nugent, an Ohio boy and an Ohio State alumnus, plays the central character and is co-author of the play with his father, J. C. Nugent. Others plays by the Nugents include "Kempy" "The Trouper," "The Rising Sun" and "Gunpowder."

"The Poor Nut" deals with the rollicking adventures of John Miller, an Ohio State junior, who would rather earn $1200 yearly as a professor of botany than be a business man at an annual salary of $12,000. A Wisconsin university girl, however, thinks differently, and armed with letters in which he had confessed his desire to become a popular hero, she takes him in hand, psycho-analyzes him and starts the newly made hero off in a gale of hilarious difficulties.

The stadium scenes in the second act have caused much praise and acclaim from critics and followers of college athletics. The relay race has been described as being "As thrilling as all the chariots of "Ben Hur."

The cast for the Ohio tour is the original company, and an especially large one for a dramatic play. Supporting Nugent are Norma Lee, Betty Garde, Percy Helton, Beach Cook, Frazer Coulter, Larry Fletcher, Harry Gresham, Thomas Sherer, Eric Kalkhurst, Cornelius Roddy, and a score of other well known players.

OHIO GRANGERS LARGE SHARE IN PROGRAM

Little Theater Plays That Won Prizes Will be Given —Fox Farming.

Ohio Granges, with a membership of 80,000 farm men and women, will have a larger share than ever before in the program at the fifteenth annual Farmers' Week January 31 to February 4, at the Ohio State university, Columbus, agricultural college officials announce and Friday of Farmers Week has been set aside as Grange day.

Charles M. Gardner, editor of the National Grange Monthly, of Springfield, Massachusetts, on Friday will speak on "Community Service," and lead a round-table discussion on relation of the Grange to community problems. That afternoon Mr. Gardner is on the program for an address under the title, "Some Aspects of Rural America."

Alfred Vivian, dean of the state college of agriculture and until recently acting lecturer of the Ohio Grange, will present an illustrated lecture, only to Grangers on "The Symbolism of the Grange Ritual."

Grangers also contribute the last event on the Farmers' Week program, the Friday evening entertainment. The local grangers will present for the Farmers' Week audience little theater plays that have won prizes in county contests. The two granges are Twin Valley Grange of Preble county, and Little Kyger Grange of Gallia county.

Grange lecturers, of whom there are 880 in Ohio, again this year are invited to attend a three days' school of methods at Farmers' Week. These sessions, coming the last three days of the week, are scheduled to consider grange lecturers' problems, music in the grange and community problems. Joseph Fichter, county superintendent of schools in Butler county, recently elected lecturer of the State Grange, will lead these discussions.

Now this year on the Farmers' Week program is the meeting of the Ohio Silver Fox Breeders' association. Fox farming, according to officers of this association, is steadily increasing in Ohio.

Fox farmers attending this meeting will see a demonstration of how to judge live foxes and fox pelts. They will hear silver fox authorities, Frank G. Ashbrook of the Bureau of biological survey, U. S. department of agriculture, W. A. Young, manager of the New York Fur company at Bloomville New York and L. J. O'Reilly, registrar of the American National Fox Breeders' association.

Just as swine breeders discuss type in hogs, sanitation, feeding and the like, so these fox breeders will discuss the characteristics of a standard type-fox, fox ranch sanitation, principles of breeding, and the importance of mineral feeding. In addition, Mr. Ashbrook will report on the experimental work in fox farming conducted by the federal government.

BOOKS IN KREMLIN BEYOND ALL PRICE?

Excavations have recently been started beneath the Kremlin in Moscow with the object of unearthing a secret library whose existence has been suspected for centuries; but which only one man is ever supposed to have seen, a monk named Johann Wettermann. The mysterious library is known as the Library of the Muscovite Czars or as the Library of Ivan the Terrible.

It is generally believed that, at a remote epoch, the masters of Moscow possessed a valuable collection of manuscripts, Greek for the most part; but it remains to be seen whether they have survived the long series of disasters which have overwhelmed the Kremlin and Moscow in the course of the centuries.

This library is supposed to date back to the middle of the Fifteenth century, and Wettermann, who summarized the contents, indicated that they comprised the missing books of Titus Livy's "History of Rome." There are 142 of these volumes or manuscripts, of which 35 are extant.—From L'Ere Nouvelle, Paris. (Translated for the Kansas City Star.)

Finds Sweetheart Wedded

When Roosevelt's Rough Riders left San Antonio for Cuba in 1898 Josephine Mandry, seventeen, tied a little silk flag to the bridle of Sergt. David Hughes' horse, says Capper's Magazine. Hughes carried the flag, also a vision of the girl from that time on, but never found an opportunity to return and look her up until a few weeks ago. No, the tale does not end in story book fashion, for she is happily married to a policeman and has children twenty years old. So they just had their pictures taken with the little silk flag. That's what happens to procrastinating lovers.

Canadian Pearls
Pearls are sometimes found in oysters and clams taken in Canadian waters, but as a rule they are too small to be of commercial value. In shape they are usually spherical—like small shining shot.

Happy Thought
I think it must somewhere be written that the virtues of mothers shall occasionally be visited on their children, as well as the sins of the fathers.—Dickens.

Voss Floto-Plane Agitator

The MASTERPIECE of the Oldest Washer Manufacturer

NEARLY fifty years of experimenting and study, backed by unlimited resources, have produced this Model E-25 (Electric) Voss Floto-Plane Washer—and a new era in home laundering.

20% added efficiency is the result of this "Thorough Cleansing with a Light Touch." The dirt is out, but all the wear is left in.

Model E-25 Electric—compactly built, with mechanism enclosed. Heavy, self-draining copper tub—one-piece cast-aluminum lid.

Four-position self-locking wringer with 12-inch cushion rolls. Easily controlled.

Special motor—simple flatbelt drive—cutting gear transmission.

Folding bench.

The Floto-Plane Agitator takes advantage of the tendency of clothes to rise close to surface of water. At this point it functions—where suds are thickest—with no roughing of clothes. It is the water-level agitator that makes washing easier on clothes, gets them cleaner, in less time.

Come in and let us demonstrate this amazing washer to you.

TO DEVELOP
CLAY INDUSTRY

Columbus, Jan. 18.—Purchase of the Roseville brick plant, just completed by the State, is going to make it possible to develop the clay industry in Ohio more than anything else that has ever been done in all its history. Brick manufacturers, without a single exception, joined in the movement for the purchase of this plant, which will also be a means of employment for several hundred prisoners now in the idle house at the penitentiary.

Recent investigations of the federal government, showing that 2 1/2 or even 2 inch vitrified paving brick will stand the most severe test, and that thinner brick will save taxpayers of the state thousands of dollars, annually, has revived interest in brick paved roads, and among the first experiments to be made by students from the engineering department of Ohio State University at the Roseville plant, will be the manufacture of these thinner paving brick.

Burbank's Work to Go On

Plant experiment work of Luther Burbank will be carried on if a movement on foot in California to raise $1,000,000 is successful. The fund would purchase the famous scientist's Sebastopol farm, north of Santa Rosa, and make it a monument to his memory. Officers of Stanford university admit that the plan is to turn over the farm to the university. Shortly before his death Burbank expressed a wish that the farm be turned over to Stanford university so that his experiments could be carried on.

Control Cadelle By Poison Fumigation

One Big Factor Is Cleanliness in Storehouse.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Cleanliness in the storehouse and granary is one of the most important factors in the control of the cadelle, a grain pest known all over the world and first described in 1758, says the United States Department of Agriculture. The habit of the larvae of burrowing into wooden floors, partitions and walls of bins, storehouses, and ships, accounts for much of the loss occasioned by fresh supplies becoming infested when placed in storage space formerly occupied by infested material.

A history of the cadelle, its distribution, and information concerning its control are contained in Department Bulletin No. 1428-D, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The pest is usually associated in its attack upon food products with other grain pests. In the case of package goods, such as breakfast foods, the holes it bores in the cartons, give other and smaller pests avenues of attack upon foods that otherwise might remain free from infestation.

The cadelle in all stages can be killed by fumigation with carbon disulphide, from six to eight pounds per thousand cubic feet of bin space being used where bins are tight. Carbon tetrachloride, has the advantage over carbon disulphide in that its vapor is nonexplosive and noninflammable, but it has the disadvantage of being about one-half to one-third as effective and must therefore be used in larger quantities.

On farms where grain bins are usually constructed of wood, hardwood should be used in preference to soft woods, and the construction made as tight as possible. Bins should be inspected annually and any badly burrowed woodwork removed. The substitution of concrete for wood wherever possible is one of the best means of preventing the rapid infestation of fresh supplies of grain or grain products.

A copy of the bulletin may be obtained, as long as the supply lasts, by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington.

Take Inventory of Farm
When Least to Figure

The best time to take a farm inventory is when the least figuring has to be done. For general crop and stock farms, this is usually between January 1 and when the spring work starts. For poultry farms, the best time to take it probably is just after the pullets have been put in winter quarters. For those who have to comply with the income tax regulations, January 1 is the best date.

No specific date is set for taking such an inventory, but any convenient time will do if it is taken approximately the same time each year, according to the farm management department of the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

The inventory should include real estate, horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, farm tools and equipment, and supplies on hand such as hay, straw, grain and silage.

In placing values, a conservative estimate of what an animal or article would sell for, with a reasonable length of time in which to dispose of it, is the best basis. This is about comparable to what it would bring at a well-attended farm auction. After inventorying all the farm property, list other assets such as liberty bonds, certificates of indebtedness, receivable bills and cash. Shares of stock in corporations should be included at market value.

After inventorying all resources, list debts such as mortgages, notes, and bills owed, including with the notes and mortgages the dates of maturity. After a complete list of all that is owed is made, make a summary showing the total value of each kind of farm property.

Compute the total resources, and from this subtract the total liabilities. This, then, represents the net worth or the true financial standing.

Sweet Clover Is One of the Best Soil Builders

Sweet clover is one of the best soil builders we can grow for soil building purposes. This does not mean that we should grow it to the exclusion of alfalfa or even red clover, but it does mean that we ought to seed down every acre of small grain with sweet clover that is not being seeded to some other legume intended for hay. Or perhaps at least half of the farms in Iowa we ought to grow sweet clover for pasture. It should be introduced in the rotation for both pasture and soil building. Let us pay more attention to that crop, not for hay, for alfalfa is much superior for that purpose, but, as stated, for pasture and for the addition of nitrogenous organic matter to the soil.

Light in Scratching Shed

Different poultrymen are building their scratching shed or house with one or two small windows at the rear of the house so that the chickens have light to work there. This keeps the litter worked out from the walls, and amounts to increasing the scratching area. If measured and estimated it will be surprising how much smaller some poultry houses are in actual service capacity than their dimensions would seem to indicate.

CO-OPERATIVE

Live Stock Shipments In This County.

Co-operative live stock shipments in Pickaway County last month amounted to $63,955.49 according to figures compiled by Harry J. Briggs, live stock shipping manager.

The net market value of co-operative live stock shipments in Ohio for 1926 amounted to $14,527,875.17 or more than a million dollars worth of business than last year, according to records received by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

A notable increase in the efficiency of the service, according to F. G. Ketner, of the live stock marketing department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, is shown by the decreased cost of handling stock. In 1925 the average expense of marketing, not including shrink, was 60 1/2 cents, whereas last year it dropped to 56 1/2 cents.

An Insult
A Chicago editor was talking about Bernard Shaw and his Nobel prize. "How do you think Shaw will take it?" a lady asked. "Will it puff him up?" "Puff him up?" laughed the editor. "No, indeed. It couldn't puff him up. Listen, ma'am, and I'll tell you a story. "I was at a party in London one night, and a pretty Chicago girl came up to me in great distress. "'Oh, dear!' she said. 'I've just made Mr. Shaw very angry.' "'Yes? How so?' said I. "'Well,' said the girl, 'I was introduced to him, but I didn't know he was the great Bernard Shaw, and he brought me an ice, and afterwards we got to talking about the theater, and he asked me who I thought was our greatest playwright, and I told him—oh, dear! I told him I thought our greatest playwright was Shakespeare.'"

At one of the most interesting and entertaining meetings of the Business and Professional Women's Club which was held last night in the club rooms, Miss Nelle Anderson read a very instructive paper on modern dentistry and told of her work with X-ray. Miss Charlotte McEwing's paper was about Grandmother and I and was very interesting and amusing.

Sergeant Billy Murray, advance man for "America Under Fire," the war film which will be presented to Circleville audiences at the Grand theatre under the auspices of the American Legion on January 25, 26 and 27, explained his film and told of the use to which the proceeds of this entertainment will be put. HEALTH TALK DR. ROBBINS THE SPEAKER

Devotes His Entire Time as Commissioner in Ross
County—Hear Address.

One of the features of the Pickaway Farmers' institute that will be of interest to both town and country will be the Health talk by Dr. G. E. Robbins on Friday evening, January 28, at the Memorial hall.

Dr. Robbins is health commissioner of Ross county and devotes his entire time to matters pertaining to health conditions. By means of a very desirable arrangement which costs the taxpayers no more, the Ross county health department functions alike for town and country and Dr. Robbins has made some very enviable records in the meeting and suppressing of various epidemics an instance of which was the mad-dog matter that was so long drawn out in Pickaway county last year. Thru the direction of Dr. Robbins the carrying out of the program of killing or muzzling of dogs was so thereby enforced that long before we were thru with out mad-dog scare Ross county had been cleaned up. Dr. Robbins has for one of his slogans "NO CHILD IN OHIO NEED DIE OF DIPHTHERIA."

He has so thoroly entered into this position of health commissioner and taken his office so seriously that the Ross county plan is being copied and Dr. Robbins methods being carried all over the county.

The people of Pickaway county, town and country will realize a lot of good from Dr. Robbins address at the institute.

BIGGER CROP OF ALFALFA REDUCE COST

Contains More Protein Than Any Other Hay and Yields
Very Much More.

A larger acreage of alfalfa is one way that many Ohio dairy farmers are planning on to cut their feed costs in 1927, declares the Blue Valley Creamery institute. The institute estimates that if only those farmers in this state who keep dairy cows would grow sufficient alfalfa to feed these cows properly this year, that the alfalfa acreage would be nearly tripled.

Approximately 192,000 acres of Ohio farm land were in alfalfa in 1926, producing 470,000 tons of hay, states the institute. As the average cow consumes approximately 1 1/2 tons of alfalfa hay in a year, the 945,000 dairy cows in this state require around 1,418,000 tons of this hay annually. Since the average acre yield of alfalfa in Ohio for the past five years is 2.5 tons, the acreage of this valuable legume needed to feed dairy cows most efficiently and most economically during the coming year is estimated at 567,000 acres to say nothing of the many more thousands of acres that will be required for feeding other farm animals. Alfalfa contains more protein than any other hay, and makes from two to nine times the yield of other hay crops.

That the need for more alfalfa hay is appreciated by an increasing number of farmers in this state in recent years is shown in the 63 per cent increase in the acreage of that crop since 1922, as compared to an increase of 11 per cent for mixed timothy and clover hay and decreases of 34 per cent for clover and 27 per cent for timothy. The work of state and county agricultural extension forces and the cooperation of local banks and business men, who recognize the advantages of growing more alfalfa to increase farm and community prosperity, are two of the agencies responsible for the rapid growth of alfalfa in this state. One of the most successful and inexpensive ways for making a start with alfalfa on farms where it has never been grown before is the 10,000-Acre Alfalfa club plan originated by the Blue Valley Creamery institute, by which local banks and business men cooperate with farmers in establishing an alfalfa crop.

"POLLYANNA" THE GLAD GIRL BIG SUCCESS

All Acquitted Themselves With Great Credit—Will be Given Again Tonight.

We are glad, glad that we went to see the play "Pollyanna" at the high school Wednesday night. As everyone knows, it is the famous story of the original "Glad Girl" and with the splendid direction of Mr. Wyatt and plenty of talent of boys and girls it was a great success.

In the first act, Eleanor Fitzpatrick Mary Crist and Erma Merriman were typical small town "ladies aiders." Their parts were short lived, but were played in a most convincing way. Bonna Rader, as Pollyanna's aunt, was quite picturesque and stately, as a maiden lady with a thwarted love affair in her youth.

Pollyanna arrives in this first act, as the little orphan, thrust unwanted into her Aunt Polly's home. Her sweet innocent face with its big freckles and the long braids of hair, make her an ideal character. This title role was played by Grace Bower. But, wait until you see Mabel Young as Nancy, the maid. That hair—that walls, and where did she get that hat.

The men in the play are extremely handsome—of course they have known that for a long time, but all dressed up for their parts, they were quite charming and grown-up. They even light and smoke big cigars without swooning. Lawrence Mack was John Pendleton, a bachelor, and his portrayal of this character was excellent.

Bob Pickens, as Dr. Chilton was quite at home on the stage and we liked the expressive movements of his hands.

Pollyanna's orphan pal, Jimmy Bean played by Edwin Haesker, was a captivating ragamuffin, who had all the poise in the world. Kenneth Styers was a perfect dignified butler.

There were also in the cast two dogs and two cats that were so beautiful that they looked like picture animals. In the last act Pollyanna has grown to seventeen; and Jimmy, too, grown to man's estate is played by Henry Harding. Together they make a most attractive couple; just a good looking boy and a winsome girl. Dr. Chilton and Miss Polly cap the climax by being married and apparently everyone is on the road to living happily ever afterward.

Before the performance and between acts Mr. Zanglein's high school orchestra played very pleasing selections. The show starts on time and continues with no delays.

The play will be repeated this evening.
